RE: Lithotone, Inc. - Himco Landfill, Elkhart, Indiana

Dear Ms. Fript:

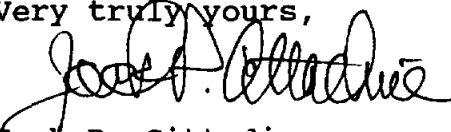

I represent Lithotone, Inc. with respect to the above matter and specifically with respect to a reply to your letter of September 4, 1990. As you may know, Lithotone is a small commercial printer. Lithotone has recycled all of its waste paper and all of its solvents are picked up for recycling by a licensed disposer.

Lithotone has used Himco, Inc. as a disposer only of general office trash and to the best of its knowledge has never disposed of any hazardous waste in Himco containers.

Specifically with respect to your letter of September 4, 1990, Lithotone remains committed to cooperating with the EPA in any manner possible. However, Lithotone is firmly of the opinion at this point in time that it is not a responsible party as it has never generated any hazardous substance disposed of by Himco, Inc.

We will be pleased to cooperate in any manner with you in the future. Please address all future correspondence in this matter directly to me.

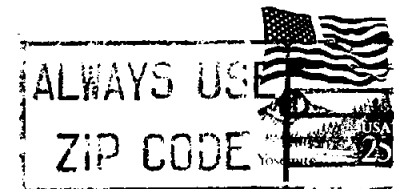

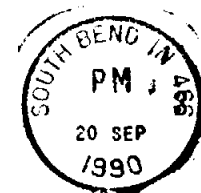

Very truly yours,

Jack P. Cittadine
